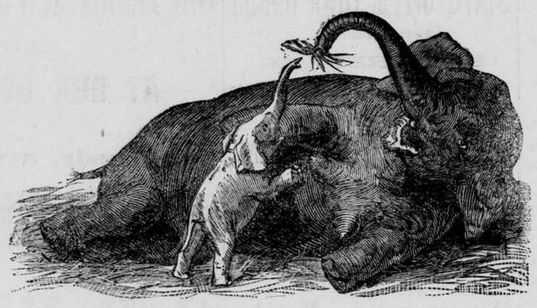
Wait until Wednesday, June 23, and See the Only Baby Elephant



Ever bred in bondage—born in Philadelphia March 10, and a little over 3 months old when exhibited in Portland. Its owners have been offered and refused $186,000 for the Precious Baby, actually more valuable than any two Entire Menageries on the Globe.

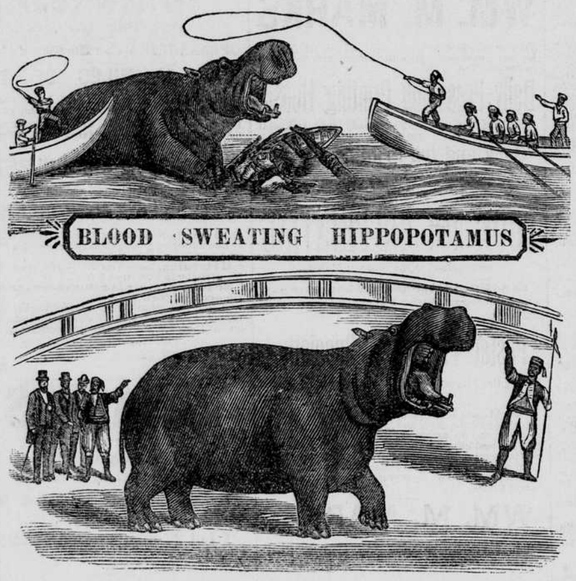
BE PATIENT TILL JUNE 23, and see Baby Elephant Nurse with its Mouth instead of the Trunk as taught in books.

LOOK OUT FOR JUNE 23, and see the Baby Elephant gambol and play with its Giant Parents.

DON'T FORGET TO GO JUNE 23, and see the only undivided Herd of 15 Elephants anywhere, in Military Drill, as taught in the army manuals; forming Towering Pyramids, Walking Ropes, etc., as no other Elephants can.

MAKE NO MISTAKE JUNE 23, see the famous Electric Light which illuminates the Pavilions of this Great Show. No dingy naptha, gas, or oil-smelling excuses for light, but a stream of yellow brilliancy, which makes a shadow of sunshine, just as the London Combination eclipses and outmines all rivals.

Go to the Show June 23, and for the first time see a Genuine



Captured Alive and Full Grown on the Upper Nile.

AN OUTPOURING JUNE 23, to see the only 5 performing palace dens of Ferocious Bengal Tigers, grave-robbing Hyenas, Rocky Mountain Panthers, South American Man-Eaters (Jaguars), and Kingly Mane-Crowned African Lions, lessons taught by brave men and women.

DON'T FAIL JUNE 23, to go and see the only team of six performing plow-oxen, pair of Hudson Bay Moose, 100 Cages of Rare Wild Animals, Colonies of Monkeys, Forests of Birds, and a world of natural history marvels.

TAKE A HOLIDAY JUNE 23, and see the Two Great Circus Companies in friendly contest in two separate and distinct rings.

A Republican State Convention

WILL BE HELD IN

GRANITE HALL, AUGUSTA,

Wednesday, June 23, 1880

At 11 o'clock A. M.,

for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor to be supported at the September election, and two candidates for Electors of President and Vice President of the United States, and to transact any other business that may properly come before the Convention.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for every seventy-five votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1879 an additional delegate, and a fraction of forty votes in excess of seventy-five will be accorded a delegate.

The State Committee will be in session in the ante-room of the Hall at 9 o'clock, on the morning of the Convention, to receive the credentials of delegates.

For the first time in the history of Maine the attempt was made in 1879 to deprive the people of the right to choose their own officers, and to corruptly continue in power those whom the people had rejected. The authors, abettors and accomplices in this crime against free government are now seeking to come before the people under some new party name—availing themselves of an alias, the common resort of those who seek to escape the responsibility and punishment of their crimes.

Against these men, under whatever name they may appear, all those citizens who condemn the nefarious plot to destroy the right of suffrage, are invited to unite, without regard to past party affiliations, to preserve honest Government for the honest people of Maine.

By order of the Republican State Committee.

C. A. BOUTELLE, FRED N. DOW, GEORGE C. WING, } Sub-Committee.
J. O. SMITH, Secretary.

The Tilden Letter.

Mr. Tilden's letter of withdrawal has made a commotion at Cincinnati, and perplexes the Democracy everywhere. The general distrust entertained of the man even by his political fellowship shows itself in the disbelief so generally expressed in the sincerity of his withdrawal. The letter is looked upon as "one of Tilden's tricks," and is regarded as a bid for the nomination, not as a genuine refusal to serve as standard-bearer. It is ingeniously written, and the claims of the writer upon the support of his party adroitly presented, while the declination is not put so strong that it may not be reconsidered if the Convention so wishes. Certainly if the Democrats were sincere in their professions of faith in Tilden in 1876, if they believe he was defrauded of the Presidency in 1877, if they are telling the truth when they say they are unable to perceive that he was implicated in the corruption of the cipher despatches, they can in honor and consistency do no less than nominate him. He has taken good care to refresh their memory concerning these declarations of theirs, and at a time when they cannot well afford to ignore the issues he makes. It is a little awkward to be sure to go into a campaign denouncing fraud with the burden of the Maine steal on their shoulders, but they really have no other plea to make. It is their whole stock in trade. Recognizing this, and knowing what an adroit schemer Tilden is, it would be rash to pronounce him out of the race. If he can possibly get that Convention he will take it, and bushels of letters will be no obstacle in his way.

The Argentine Rebellion.

A cable despatch received by Messrs. A. & S. E. Spring of this city yesterday, from their agents at Buenos Ayres, informs them that that port is strictly blockaded, thus confirming the reports recently received by the way of London.

This will be unfortunate news for some of our lumber dealers and vessel owners; for a considerable portion of the lumber shipped to Buenos Ayres goes from this port. Should the blockade continue for any length of time it will materially interfere with shipments from here, and stop all exports of hides, wool, &c. from there. The cause of the trouble in Buenos Ayres is very little understood in this country.

The Argentine Republic, like our own, is made up of several States called Provinces. A President is elected every six years. The term of the present President expires this fall, and the election for his successor was held last April or rather electors were chosen whose duty it was to elect a President. These electors met on the 12th of this month and elected Gen. Roca, the Provincial candidate, over Dr. Tajedor, the present governor of the State of Buenos Ayres and the candidate of that state. The State, or Province of Buenos Ayres, is by far the most important of all the States of the Republic, embracing the most of the trade and wealth of the Republic. Notwithstanding this the President has been selected from other states for many years, and the issue in the election just held was upon this question, and the candidate of the State of Buenos Ayres was beaten. All efforts at a compromise have failed and it appears the people have resorted to the sword to settle the dispute. The whole trouble is political, and in some respects resembles our trouble of 1861.

THE Chicago Times does equal and exact justice to the record of the "first Democratic Congress since the war" in these words:

The record of this Congress is a diminuendo movement. It began March 18, 1879, with a thundering noise over a big undertaking. The Bourbons had "captured the capital." The first business done by the august statesmen who had captured the Senate, was the turning out of all the old placemen and the distribution of the places, so far as they would go to the greedy horde of office-begging cormorants which the change of party control brought to Washington.

After the distribution of the parliamentary loaves and fishes, the party met in solemn caucus and resolved to resume its legislative work exactly where it left off 20 years before. As a preliminary step, it was necessary to undo what the adverse party had done in the interval. The "legislation of the war" had erected a great barrier across the political road which the captors were traveling when they left Washington at the call of state secession. That barrier must be removed to enable them to resume the old journey. "We propose," said the spokesman from Kentucky, "to erase from the statute-book every vestige of your legislation of the war. In this work we beg you to believe we shall never surrender." The noise of wind-instruments was tremendous. Its thunderous diapason shook the land for three months, and then suddenly died away in a few feeble notes, expressing the disgust of the performers at the failure of the prodigious undertaking.

The dismal failure of the extra session, followed by the emphatic disapprobation of the country in the Fall elections, wrought a complete change of the programme of the boastful captors. Instead of renewing the lost battle of the extra session the opening of the regular session saw them under the consciousness of having committed an enormous political blunder, and afraid to step in any direction lest they should commit another great blunder. To do nothing and say nothing,—to stand with sealed lips in a fixed attitude hoping for a miracle to be wrought on their behalf—this seemed to them to be the only way of safety. And this trembling "mum policy" they have stuck to, during a session of more than six months, in the dilemma of the man who realized that to hold on to the bear was not escape, but to let go would be destruction.

THE New York World says Maine is represented at Cincinnati by "four venerable looking gentlemen named William G. Davis, Bion Bradbury, Arthur Sewall and Darius Alden." Mr. Davis, who acted as spokesman, said to a reporter of the World that their delegation was for Tilden, "but that they might change their minds after the first ballot." When asked if he thought Mr. Tilden could carry Maine he said with a faint attempt at enthusiasm that he was sure of it. Later in the conversation, however, he said he thought that any Democrat that was nominated would have rather a hard fight before him in that State unless Blaine sulked. Mr. Davis ought to know that Blaine never sulks.

UNDER the imaginative title "Another Chapter in Garfield's Infamous History" the Argus republishes an article from the Washington Post accusing Gen. Garfield of complicity in the salary grab. The truth in the matter is Gen. Garfield opposed the back pay business by voice and vote from the start, and refused to share the plunder. The accusation brought against him is malicious and false. This same article mentions Trumbull, Bayard and Randall as among the few Congressmen who were not "on the make." All three of these eminent Democrats were concerned in the salary-grab.

THE Cleveland Herald, in an editorial review of the baseless charges against General Garfield's record, closes with the following suggestion: "If a Democratic Congressional investigating committee will send for persons and papers, they may be able to prove that it was Garfield who put up George Washington to chop the cherry tree, and then ran away to leave George exposed to the impending flogging. Oh, but he is a ba-a-d man is that James A. Garfield!"

REPRESENTATIVE BAKER of Indiana has made an analysis of Democratic economy as illustrated in the expenditures of the House of Representatives, where the Democrats have held full control for five years. During the last year of Republican control the number of permanent annual employees of the House was 125, and their pay amounted to $194,190 a year. Now the number of permanent employes is 173, and their pay amounts to $207,798 a year. Other expenditures have increased in similar proportion.

AMONG those who did not predict General Garfield's nomination was the Rev. Mr. Green A. Murray of the Presbyterian Board, who is stationed at Tokio, Japan. In a letter to a friend in Alexandria, Va., written on the 21st of May, he said: "The only man of eminence whom I should vote for, for President, does not stand any chance, I fear. It is General Garfield, who is the best combination of capacity and political integrity in the upper Republican ranks."

PHILADELPHIA Press: The intelligent, independent, educated, religious and progressive sentiment of the country was never more united than it is now on General Garfield. While the mud machines are pumping out their impotent slime, the recognized representatives of the most wholesome politics are singularly unanimous for the Chicago ticket.

JUDGE PORTER, nominated by the Republicans of Indiana for Governor, has no doubt of his success from the fact that the issues before the people are now in favor of the Republican party. He will make a thorough canvass of the State and a hard fight generally to win the race.

THE New Religion is apparently aiming a shaft at the Greenback candidate in the Second District when it says "One thing seems to be certain, this will be a hard year for 'cheap chromo' candidates."

LAST Winter, wasn't it, that they were promising the Presidential nomination to Garcelon? Has he, too, written a letter of declination?

IT is understood that the Tilden interest will be cast for Cap'n Chase, as the next best embodiment of fraud.

THE acquittal of the ruffian Currie was a foregone conclusion. He only killed a Northern man.

THE Tilden letter has made the New York World very happy.

THE question now is: Where is the Tilden strength going?

Our Boston Letter.

How the Chicago Nomination is Regarded —The Sound Disaster—Massachusetts Democrats—Summer Travel.

BOSTON, June 21, 1980.

The people of Boston and vicinity have had two leading topics of conversation during the past ten days, and both have been exciting. The first in order was the nomination of Garfield. I am old enough to remember all the Republican nominations since 1860, and I think I can safely say that never was one acquiesced in by members of the party with such unanimity as this. Certainly never have the independent voters been so unanimous, so enthusiastic even, over a nomination. True, they make up a wry face over Arthur and wish they could vote directly for President and cut the tail off the kite. Well, it isn't a nomination that we independents would have made, but on the whole, Mr. Arthur isn't a bad man. The only thing I know of against him is that he represents the anti civil service section of the party. I don't like the idea, and a good many other Republicans don't, but he is just as much entitled to his view as we are. At the worst he only represents the avowed Democratic doctrine on that point. But to return to Garfield. One who admires a true man must "enthuse" over him. He is a great man in everything. In size, in education, in culture, in honesty, in liberalism, in politics, in religion. He is certainly a most satisfactory man in Massachusetts, and you know the old Bay State is fussy about politics. Whoever may be the Democratic candidate, Garfield is as sure of the electoral vote of the State as of any State in the Union. The Boston Globe has disgusted all decent men with its scurrilous attack on Garfield the morning after the nomination, and which it has since followed up with characteristic recklessness. T. J. Gargan, a leading Democrat of this State, says Garfield is a good man and a strong man, and the Democrats need their strongest man to beat him.

Our other topic of exciting interest has been the disaster on the Sound. I can only say of this that instead of wondering at the collision, I wonder that more have not happened. Five boats on the Sound each way every night, year after year, passing and repassing, and how few are the accidents. I do not know the condition of the Narragansett on this particular night;—of her life preservers and life boats—but unless they were immeasurably superior to any I have ever seen on our home boats they were not what they should have been. This applies more particularly to the life boats. Usually there are life preservers enough, and they are good enough, but people either do not know how to put them on, or else are too excited to do it. I wonder people who travel by boat do not try on a life preserver some time so as to know just how the thing is to be used in case of emergency. As for boats, they usually get upset in lowering. What should be done on every steamer is to drill the crews in lowering boats. Every man should be assigned a certain position at a certain boat in case of emergency, as is done on ocean steamers. People will be shy of boats during the next few months; perhaps more so of this unfortunate line than any other. And why? Sound travel is safer to-day than ever before. The managers are now resorting to every expedient to restore confidence, and none are more eager in this direction than the old Stonington line. The accident has been a lesson to them all, and a sad one, but rest assured they will profit by it. The Stonington line, which has been the "old reliable" for more than a generation is temporarily suspended, but will soon be renewed with better boats and better equipments. In the meantime the Providence service will be continued. The "Massachusetts" of this line, on which I had the pleasure of a trip to New York a short time ago, is beyond question the finest boat in the world. I certainly never saw such grandeur afloat in my life. The furniture throughout is of mahogany trimmed with dark cherry and upholstered in soft red leather. She is lighted throughout with the electric light, and at night her parlors and saloons remind me of the brilliant grand opera house in Paris. I believe the newspapers are suggesting the general adoption of the electric light as the best signal light.

Attention is turned towards Cincinnati this week. People are wondering what the Democrats are going to do. Their characteristic ability for blundering is expected to stand out prominently before they get through. What golden opportunities that party has thrown away! With decent management and half honesty of purpose the Democrats could have elected the next President; but they have persistently supported everything bad and driven thousands of good men away, until their prospect is not near as good as it was four years ago. Greenbackism, coalitions, obstruction of legislation, and prolongation of Congressional sessions are among the more prominent blunders. The real crime has been in a quasi endorsement of the Maine steal. That is a crime which has no parallel in this country, not even in the rebellion. In 1861 the men of the South thought they were right and fought for a principle. In 1879-80 the fusionists of Maine knew they were thieves and had no rights whatever. To-day no man can be deemed both honest and ordinarily intelligent who does not condemn the whole proceeding by voting for the Republican gubernatorial nominee.

I can't say what will be done in this State this Fall, further than that Gov. Long will be renominated without opposition. He has made a good governor and kept up the standard to which Massachusetts so often "points with pride." Ben Butler having been repudiated by the Greenbackers as a Presidential candidate, the Greenback fervor here has been materially checked. Of course the old man is out of the question as a gubernatorial candidate this Fall. The two wings of the Democratic party must unite and probably will. The Butler Democrats without Butler have no money. Butler will not give them money to elect Weaver; or, pardon me for saying elect, to throw away votes on him, I mean. All the money of the Massachusetts Democracy is in the anti-Butler coterie. So I say the two factions must unite as they probably will. Who they will nominate I cannot say. C. P. Thompson, while an anti-Butler man at heart, has never handled the other crowd very roughly and if the Butler people will unite on him he is by far the strongest man in the State. The Greenbackers will have to go alone and therefore will amount to nothing.

This is a great year for travel, both at home and to foreign countries. Mr. Jordan, the New England agent of the Erie railroad informs me that he has never known so heavy a travel between the East and West over his line. Mr. Stewart of the Anchor line tells me that his foreign travel is very large, all the steamers going out full. Like reports come from most other lines. SCOTT.

The American Holiday.

It is not more than a dozen years ago since a hard-worked New Yorker or Philadelphian with a small income made up his mind that the Summer holiday, which was an indulgence to his well-to-do neighbor, was a necessity for himself—as much of a necessity in the work of the year as the hours of sleep are in the work of the day. So far so good. Now that he is convinced of that he takes his holiday; but he is not yet used to it. He carries the luxury uneasily; it discomforts him; he does not know how to use it. Having but the one chance to be idle in the year, he is captious about the idleness, and scared lest he may not enjoy every moment of it.

He knows what he wants very well. He and his wife and children are talking about this at this very moment in a hundred thousand places. He will tell you that he is not hard to please. There are certain essentials, to be sure, which he must have when he leaves home for enjoyment; sublime scenery, pure air, no mosquitoes, plenty of game, milk, fruit and eggs, congenial society, spring mattresses, well-cooked meals, and little to pay at the end of the week—give him these, and he is satisfied. Where he shall go to find them, and, after he has gone, how he was cheated while he was there, afford him matter for grumbling from May until September.

Now his French or German cousin over the sea has a hundred holidays in the year. He knows how to bring the flavor out of every drop in the orange. He drifts into idleness easily, without thought. When his fête comes he goes, for a few francs, with his sweetheart or wife, a mile or two out of town. They joke and laugh. The sun shines, the wind blows—it is all good. It rains, it is dusty—but they joke and laugh all the same. They criticise nothing. How good it all is!

But as for our American, a corn-husk bed, or a mosquito in the woods, will overturn a whole Summer's airy fabric of happiness. In his anxiety lest he should not seize the best chance of enjoyment, he is apt to follow the largest crowd. He goes to Niagara, to Cape May, the Adirondacks, or to some of the countless paper mansions or hot farmhouses in the suburbs of the cities. He tells you that his object is rest and freedom, but the chances are that he leaves both behind in his house in town. There he could wear his old slippers; he chose his own companions; he held such habits and opinions as suited him; he was the MacDonald, and where he sat was the head of the table. But in every one of these Summer homes society tramples him down. It is often a little clique of which he never heard before, "without father, mother, or descent." He may laugh at it as vulgar and ignorant, but it is master of the position; he is not. In the hottest months of the year, when even the beasts in the field lie down to rest, it forces upon him a hurly-burly of fashion-gossip, dress, outlay and weariness, which at home he can manage to shut outside of his own door. He goes back, as a rule, to his shop or office, his gas-pipes and family table, unrefreshed, and glad that the holiday is over. But, after all, he goes with the crowd the next year. The average American is afraid not to move with the crowd.

The history of all summering places is alike. An adventurous artist usually ventures into a new field, and whispers his discovery to his friends. Scenery is well nigh as popular a hobby just now as household decoration. After him come pell-mell the would-be æsthetics, and later the mere fashionables, as the flock follows the tinkle of the bell-wether, and up go the mammoth hotels, as fast as mushrooms spring on a May morning on betramped sheep-walks.—Rebecca Harding Davis, in Harper's Magazine for July.

Pharaoh's Bust.

[Saturday Review.]

Many examples both of the revival and decay of Egyptian art may be seen in the Boolak museum. Among them are two interesting busts, both found at Karnac. The larger represents a queen's head, the crown and part of the throat being broken away, leaving only the face perfect. It is a singularly life-like face. The nose, is, to say the least, retroussé; the mouth wears a pleasant smile. The white alabaster of which it is made adds to the effect of the bust, and produces an extraordinary impression of sweetness, grace, and irregular beauty, combined with a certain idea of power, and at the same time, it must be confessed, of insincerity. This was the great Queen Thya, the wife of Amenhotep III., the king whose statues are the great colossi of the plain of Thebes. She was probably a foreigner and lowly born, but Amenhotep loved her, and signalized his love by associating her with himself on the throne, and her name with his in countless inscriptions. The adjoining bust, though it is of black granite, and terribly mutilated, bears a singular resemblance to that of the queen. It represents Merenptah, the "Pharaoh of the Exodus." The likeness to Thya may perhaps be accounted for if we remember that Rameses II., the father of Merenptah, was descended through his mother from the old royal line, and is said in some inscriptions to have been king from his birth. It is interesting thus to trace a family likeness in people who were as long before the Christian era as we are after it. Later than Merenptah there is little or no sculpture of the same excellence till we come to the time of the 26th dynasty, as we have remarked; but of that period the museum possesses some statuettes of an excellence seldom surpassed even under the early monarchy. They seem all four to have been executed by the same hand, and are full of a delicacy and grace very unusual; but the straining after what must even then have been an archaic style is very apparent. The central figure represents Psamthik, a priest of Osiris and Athor, standing immediately before, and, so to speak, under the chin of a beautiful cow, who wears the moon between her delicately curved horns, and seems to protect and guide her worshipper. At either sides are seated figures of Osiris and Athor. Near them is a figure of the hippopotamus goddess, sometimes called Thoueris, sometimes simply the Nile, a hideous form, but exquisitely sculptured, and like all the four, in a hard green stone, perhaps diorite.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Tilden's letter is variously construed. Many of the papers construe it as an artful bid for the nomination. Others accept it as declination made in good faith.

The Mississippi river has overflowed its banks in Iowa and a good deal of damage has been done to mills and bridges.

Forest fires are prevailing along the line of the Inter-Colonial railroad in New Brunswick. McAdam Village is in danger of destruction.

I. M. Kalloch, who shot De Young, was released owing to a defect in the proceeding, but was immediately re-arrested and committed without bail.

Bradlaugh's case came up in the Commons last night. A motion to allow him to affirm was opposed by the Conservatives and the debate was adjourned.

Capt. Howgate's Arctic steamer Gulnare, sailed yesterday.

A despatch to the London Standard says a revolution has broken out in the Argentine Republic, and the city of Buenos Ayres is besieged.

Alleged Abortion.

LEWISTON, June 21.—In May Lizzie Patterson from Easton came to Lewiston and shortly married Peter Gamage. Last week she became violently ill and died Sunday, having given birth to a dead infant. Her husband did not see her after marriage till called to her death bed. It is stated she confessed herself the victim of an abortion. A coroner's inquest is being held.

MARINE NEWS.

A Fishing Schooner Capsized and Sunk.

CAMDEN, June 21.—Capt. Joseph Metcalf of the fishing schooner Emma Campbell, reports that the schooner capsized and sunk in a squall Sunday, off Northport. The crew of five were all saved.

An American Ship in Distress.

LONDON, June 21.—The American ship Huguenot, Capt. Nickerson, at Havre on the 12th inst. from San Francisco, is very leaky and the crew has deserted.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Violent Thunder Storm.

ATTLEBORO, June 21.—A heavy thunder storm passed over this place this afternoon. Larry Burke, jeweler, of North Attleboro while washing his hands was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The lightning burned his hair off and melted a gold ring in his pocket. The house of Theron Smith was badly damaged, and telegraph wires blown down, &c.

PLYMOUTH, June 21.—A very heavy thunder storm occurred this afternoon. A house near the harbor was considerably damaged by lightning.

NEW YORK.

Narrow Escape from a Steamboat Disaster.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The Graphic says the steamers of the Manhattan Beach Company and of the Cony Island Company, both filled with passengers, had an exceedingly narrow escape from a collision this noon under circumstances which sent the steamer Adelaide to the bottom.

SPORTING.

The American Rifle Team.

DUBLIN, June 21.—The American rifle team had the range at Dallymount to themselves today. The decision as to who will compose the American team for the international match depends upon today's practice. All the men used either Sharp or Remington rifles except Farrow, who used a Ballard. Farrow made 75 in 800 yards range, the highest possible.

Base Ball.

At Albany—Albanys 3, Bostons 2.

Disastrous Floods in Iowa.

MCGREGOR, June 21.—The Mississippi river has risen 20 feet. Travel on all the roads is cut off except west of St. Paul. Saw mills have stopped, and business is at a stand still. Hundreds of thousands of tons of ice have been carried off.

DUBUQUE, June 21.—The rise in the river Saturday was larger than on Friday, increasing eight inches in twelve hours. The freshet comes from Wisconsin river. Above that point the river is falling. The stage is now 14 inches below the high water mark of 1870. A thousand cords of wood have been lost here. Travel north is abandoned. No trains either way. The manufacturing interests of the city are dead, involving untold losses, aside from the property destroyed.

Memphis Cleaned Up.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Surgeon General Hamilton from Memphis reports that the sanitary condition of that city has been greatly improved since last year; that the city is excellently drained and a stone pavement has been laid and the city is cleaner than ever before. While there may be a few cases of fever this year the doctors think the disease will not reach anything like the proportions of years past.

The Brattleboro Bank.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., June 21.—Lewis M. Price arrived from Washington to-night to take charge of the crippled First National Bank as receiver. Three months will be allowed for proof of claims, after which they will be disallowed. Nothing has been heard of Waite's whereabouts, although detectives profess ability to return him to Brattleboro, H. C. Willard, a local druggist, one of the bank directors, filed a petition in bankruptcy today.

Kalloch Released and Again Committed.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—I. M. Kalloch having been released from arrest on a charge of killing Charles DeYoung, on account of a defect in the proceedings, was immediately re-arrested on a new complaint and this afternoon held to answer without bail.

CINCINNATI.

NEW YORK CONDOLES WITH TILDEN.

Thurman's State Goes Back on Him.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 21.—There is no such crowd here as at Chicago during the Republican convention. Nevertheless the hotels and streets are well filled and keen interest is evident on every hand. Tilden's persistent friends do not regard his letter as an absolute withdrawal and will press his name if there appears any chance, but outside of his pledged supporters there is an evident disposition to accept his declination as definite. The sentiment of the delegates as they arrive seems to favor Bayard, but with no certainty of his nomination. The friends of Hendricks rather dispair with reference to his prospect, and Tilden's delegates do not altogether accept either Payne or Randall as the legatee of his claims. Hancock's friends, who are many, appear to be reserving themselves until an opportunity shall develop. Jewett has quite a following which is active and well organized. Field's advocates are working hard and mechanically to get up a boom. Randolph and Groesbeck have many supporters and, the general situation on the whole is so mixed that nothing can be more hazardous or uncertain than any prediction of the final result.

At a meeting of the New York delegation the following resolution offered by Schoonmaker was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That with a sense of profound gratitude for his great services to the country and to the Democratic party, and unqualified admiration for his character and abilities this delegation has received with deep regret the impressive declination by Governor Tilden to be a candidate for re-nomination and election to the Presieency of the United States.

An engrossed copy of the resolution was sent to the Kentucky delegation.

The National Committee agreed upon Senator John W. Stevenson of Kentucky for permanent chairman. It was agreed to admit contesting delegations from New York and Massachusetts to seats until the committee on credentials reported, but only the regular delegations will be entitled to vote.

The Massachusetts delegation held a meeting to-night with a view to settling or compromising the difierences in their State so as to admit both delegations. If this is accomplished it will save much time to the convention.

The Ohio delegation took important action. Although Thurman has a majority, yet when it came to electing a chairman, Alexander Long, a Payne man, was chosen by 24 to 20 over Daniel Linwood, who represented Thurman and Jewett. An entire Paine organization was elected.

In Illinois a vote for preference was taken, resulting in Seymour 16, Morrison 18, Palmer, Davis, Trumbull and Tilden one each.

Nebraska has voted to unite with New York, Connecticut and New Jersey, but no choice of candidate has been made.

Indiana strongly holds off from joining the Ohio coalition, still remaining firm for Hendricks. At a meeting to-night a resolution was adopted by the Indiana delegation specifically condemning the effort to put McDonald in the field.

The night has been noisy and busy from delegations and clubs marching through the streets with music and banners.

The representative in the resolutions committee for Maine is E. McNichol.

A Boston Journal's special says it is a noteworthy fact that among the leading arguments n favor of Tilden, of Payne and of Jewett, is their ability to furnish funds for carrying on the campaign. Bayard's friends are working diligently, but he is too much a gentleman and statesman to make a Democratic candidate. The South would stand up unanimously for him, but he has no "barrel of money"; and while August Belmont advocates his nomination he does not promise the support of the Rothschilds' money bags. There are rumors of an alliance offensive and defensive between the friends of Randall and Bayard. This will evidently strengthen Bayard. The Field men are resorting to the lowest dodges to attract attention to their candidate, including a four-horse omnibus, on which a brass band plays around the streets, while on each side is inscribed, "For President, S. J. Field." It has been ascertained that Field cannot receive the support of the united California delegation, and that others from the Pacific coast are opposed to him. His recent dissenting opinion in the Supreme Court on the reconstruction laws is for state sovereignty, but it is asserted that he was placed on the Bench of the Supreme Court for affirming the power of the national government to coerce a state. He may be regarded as having small, if any, chances for the nomination.

The decorations of the Music Hall have been completed and are in excellent taste. The central object is a life-like portrait of Gen. Jackson, the father of the Democratic party, and there is a profuse display of flags. The 600 chorus seats, which rise in the rear of the platform, will be reserved for ladies. The seats for the State delegations will be designated by banners of blue satin, bearing the names of the several States in gold letters. Massachusetts has the front seats in the left centre division as seen from the platform, with Delaware at her side and Louisiana and Kentucky behind her, Rhode Island and Connecticut coming next. New Hampshire and Maine are on the left side division, and Vermont on the is on the right centre division.

NEW YORK, June 21.—A Washington dispatch to the Times says that the rebel records captured at Richmond was found a commission as colonel in a rebel infantry regiment, made out in the name of Thomas F. Bayard, present Senator from Delaware. There is, of course, no pretence that the commission was ever offered Mr. Bayard, but it is inferred that a commission would not have been made out in his name if it had not been believed by the rebel authorities that Senator Bayard was in sympathy with them. The Dover speech and this commission will make heavy handicaps. The same records that implicate Hendricks as a member of the Golden Circle also include Daniel W. Voorhees.

TILDEN'S LETTER.

The Old Man's Sphinx-Like Utterance.

IS IT A WITHDRAWAL OR A PLEA FOR THE NOMINATION.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The Herald says:—Tilden's letter was expected to be one of declination, but it turns out to be a dexterous plea for nomination. It remains to be seen whether the convention will take him at his word or will accept the letter in the sense in which it is obviously intended—to make him again the nominee of his party.

The Sun says:—The letter of Tilden's is a clear and forcible document, comprehensive in thought and elevated in sentiment. but we differ with Tilden in the conclusion at which he arrives. It seems to us that the only logical deduction from his statements and reasoning emphasizes the necessity of Tilden's candidacy.

The World says:—It was only when it was clear that he could not be nominated nor elected that Tilden comes forward to decline a nomination which he is at last satisfied that he cannot obtain. He has resigned under fire and merely to avoid an open defeat upon the floor of the convention. There is certainly nothing heroic in this behavior. There is as certainly something characteristic. Boldness and frankness are not traits by which has been distinguished in his public life. To keep his counsel even from those who have every right to know it until concealment is no longer possible, is the habit which has alienated his party from him, and of this habit his long withheld and grudging letter of withdrawal is a crowning evidence. His letter also exhibits the same pharisaical assumption which its author has shown before—that all those members of his own party who oppose him are "bad men," governed by base motives. It is Mr. Tilden's own fault if even this letter is not received as final by those who are supposed to possess his confidence, and if there are persons who imagine that they are pleasing him instead of insulting him by the preposterous demand that it should be disregarded by the convention.

The Tribune says:—It is a sort of farewell address to the Democracy, combined with an earnest exhortation not to condone fraud. In spite of the elaborate phraseology of the letter, there will remain a lingering suspicion in the minds of Democrats who have been disposed to regard Tilden as a sort of "old man of the sea," fastened upon the neck of their party, that he is not wholly out of the fight, and his name may yet be thrown into the convention if it should fail to nominate after a few ballots. Nothing but the actual nomination of some other man will wholly dispel this suspicion. The prediction of some of Tilden's followers in Cincinnati, that the letter though a declination in terms, would in reality be a bid for the nomination, is more than half fulfilled. If the convention should get into a snarl with its baker's dozen of candidates and should straighten it out by a hurrah for the old ticket of 1876 who can say Tilden would still decline or that he did not foresee just such a result when he wrote that letter?

The Times says:—Tilden's letter eliminates an important factor from the equation which is to be worked out, but it leaves the unknown quantity untouched. It must be accepted as an unqualified "renunciation of the nomination." To suppose it is a mere device to win sentimental strength in the convention, is to magnify beyond all reason the mysterious character which has been attributed to Tilden. If language has any meaning his name cannot with decency be presented to the convention. The letter contains much that is open to criticism on the ground of its truth, its propriety and its reasoning, but that it constitutes a complete withdrawal from the canvass cannot fairly be doubted.

The Star styles it "Tilden's surrender, and says the greatest obstacle to Democratic harmony is now removed. It calls Tilden's letter of withdrawal, even at the eleventh hour, and when he had no alternative, the most popular act of his administration, for we do not forget that he is President de jure.

WASHINGTON.

Sailing of The Gulnare.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The Gulnare left Washington to-night and will stop at Norfolk for supplies and then go to Halifax, after which she will touch at St. John, N. B., and then proceed derict to Greenland.

EUROPE.

The Irish Tenant Troubles.

A BLOODY RIOT AT CARRICK.

DUBLIN, June 21.—Acheson, who killed a farmer near Ballinamore, was arraigned on Saturday, but the hearing was adjourned till Monday. On returning to Carrick, escorted by 50 armed constabulary, they were assaulted by a crowd, including many militiamen who are training at present. A large stone was thrown through a window of the omnibus and struck the chief constable, who sprang out and ordered the arrest of a militiaman seen to throw the stone. The police seized him and went off again at full gallop, 300 militiamen following and threatening to rescue their comrade. Acheson was lodged in safety, but on returning from the jail the barracks the militia attacked the police fiercely, some mounting a fence and firing a fusilade of stones among the police, who fixed their bayonets and attempted to force their way, when a bloody riot ensued, but no further particulars are received.

Bradlaugh's Case.

LONDON, June 21.—To-night the case of Bradlaugh came up for consideration in the Commons. Mr. Labouchere moved that Bradlaugh be allowed to affirm, and McLaven seconded the motion. Sir Harding Gifford, (Conservative) moved that Bradlaugh be permitted neither to take the oath nor make affirmation. Fowler (Conservative) seconded it and John Bright opposed an amendment. Debate was adjourned until to-morrow.

The Amnesty Bill Passed by the French Deputies.

PARIS, June 21.—The deputies to-day passed the amnesty bill, 333 to 140. De Cassagnac attacked the bill.

Gambetta said the bill was not the work of any single person but of the majority. He claimed, however, a share of the responsibility therefore. Trinquet's election, he said, could not have any ulterior consequences. It was necessary to grant amnesty as long as possible before the elections in order that it should not be turned to account by hostile parties. The fete of the 14th of July would restore to the nation the flags which had been shamefully abandoned. A tombstone must be placed over the crimes of the commune.

It was resolved that Gambetta's speech be placarded in all communes.

The Berlin Conference.

LONDON, June 21.—A Berlin dispatch to the Times says the delegates to the Technical commission do not make much progress owing to a want of unanimity. The attitude of Russia in favor of Greece seems calculated to prolong proceedings.

Austrian Opinion of Turkish Affairs.

VIENNA, June 21.—Mr. Layard's dispatch on the condition of Turkey in the British Parliamentery blue book recently issued has caused a great sensation here. The Nue Free Presse (Turcophile) recommend a deposition of the Sultan in orrder to save Turkey. The Fremdenblatt demands European surveillance and control over the Porte. The Vienna Presse professes to believe the end of Turkey, as a State at hand, and advises Austria to take as much as possible of the Turkish territory.

Foreign Notes.

Bismarck is still insisting on the adoption of the church bill. The Conservatives and National Liberals who hitherto have opposed the bill, have resolved that the adoption of a fair modification will enable them to support it.

Jesuits expelled from France have purchased a house at Prague.

The Siamese embassy have arrived at London.

Thomas Dale alias Jordan, captain of the Canadian cricketers, has been arrested at London as as a deserter from the army and sentenced by court martial to 336 days imprisonment.

Dean Stanley will withdraw his permission to erect a memorial to the French prince in Westminster Abbey if the Commons favor such a course.

Desultory fighting between the royal troops and the Burmah rebels is still going on near the British frontier.

The elections for governors in the various States of Mexico are progressing with great regularity and without disturbance. Foreign commerce has largely increased in the last three months, greatly relieving the treasury.

ASIA.

The Situation of Affairs in Afghanistan.

CABUL, June 21.—The situation in Afghanistan does not seem to be materially changed but Abdurrahman Khan, if he seriously meditated hostilities, has somewhat altered his mind. Meanwhile efforts are making to collect armed men to give him an imposing force. Mahommed Jan is said to be on the way from Kohistan to throw his sword at the feet of Abdurrahman Khan. He is expected to reach Maidon on the 20th. An attempt will be made to intercept him. There is no good ground for supposing that Abdurrahman Khan is intriguing with Russia.

Famine Increasing in Kurdestan.

Letters from Kurdestan state that the death rate is increasing and make an earnest appeal for funds to save the famine stricken people.

Montenegrins Driven Back by the Albanians.

SENTARI, June 21.—In a skirmish between Albanians and Montenegrins in the plains of Padgovitza the Montenegrins were driven back under shelter of the batteries of Padgovitza.

Superior Court.

BEFORE JUDGE BONNEY.

MONDAY.—In the case of Jesse Dyer vs. Norris G. Curtis et al., reported Saturday, the evidence was completed and the Court adjourned sine die. The case is reported to the law court for their determination as to the law and the facts. If the decision is for the plaintiff the question of damages is to be referred to the Hon. William Wirt Virgin.

Attention Pioneers.

There will be a meeting of the Pioneers at Lancaster Hall, THIS EVENING, at 7.30 o'clock. Every member is requested to be present as business of importance will come before the meeting.

Per order. W. P. OSBORNE, Capt.
W. L. NOBLE, Clerk.

Brief Jottings.

The Infantry will go on an excursion July 6th.

Officer Langmaid arrested a boy for stealing a dog in Deering yesterday.

Fine day yesterday. Mercury 65° at 7 a. m., 76° at noon, 74° at sunset; wind northwest.

A special train will come from Gorham to Portland after the exercises at the Normal School this evening. Fifty cents for the round trip.

The New Gloucester Band will go on an excursion to Long Island to-day in the steamer Gazelle, leaving State street wharf at 8.45 and Custom House wharf at 9 o'clock.

There will be a temperance prayer meeting at Congress street M. E. church this evening. All temperance workers are cordially invited.

Capt. Knowlton has built a landing on Big Diamond Island, which must make this island a favorite resort for picnics, parties, &c., as Echo Point Grove, which is near the landing, is one of the prettiest places to be seen anywhere.

Religious services for deaf mutes will be held at Gorham, Sunday June 29th, by Rev. Samuel Rowe, missionary of the Maine Deaf Mute Mission to England. Baptism in the afternoon. Mutes of Portland and vicinity are invited to attend.

A Southern lady of some pretentions to beauty, has taken up her residence upon Congress street, near Locust. She rejoices in the name of Aralia Spincsa, but is no relation to the great metaphysician, who spells his name with a z; her nearest relatives are sarsaparilla, spikenard and ginseng. Nevertheless, she presents more thorny points than even the tractates of Spinoza, and has thus acquired the masculine soubriquet of Hercules Club. Portland may consider itself specially honored by her presence, since she is very seldom seen north of Pennsylvania.

Personal.

Mr. Orel Towle and wife of Somerville, Mass., and Mr. Lewis Wight and wife of Wellesley, Mass., arrived here Sunday from Boston, and took rooms at the United States hotel. They drove the entire distance in a carryall drawn by a fine span of horses.

Portland Commandery.

As some changes have been made in the time table of the Portland Commandery excursion since published in the PRESS we herewith give a corrected programme:

Portland Commandery will make an excursion to Providence and Newport on the festival of St. John the Baptist, leaving by special train on the Eastern Railroad, at 1.15 p. m., June 23d. Lines will be formed at 12.30 and the start will be made at 12.45 exactly. The train will arrive at Boston at 4.30, when the Commandery will march to the Providence depot and take the 5.30 train which will reach Providence at 7 o'clock. Quarters are engaged at the "Narragansett," one of the best houses in the country.

June 24th—The Knights will fall into line at 8 a. m., and march to the Palace Steamer Crystal Wave for a trip down Narragansett Bay, passing Silver Springs, Rocky Point, Canonicut Park and other noted points of interest, arriving at Newport at 10.30. Dinner will be served at the Ocean House, the finest hotel there at 12. Ample time will be given to visit all places of interest in Newport, and the boat will return at 4.30 p. m. Not an instant's delay will be allowed, as the steamer must connect with train in Providence at 6.30. The Commandery will stop in Providence Thursday night.

June 25th—Knights will be at liberty until noon, when dinner will be served at 12 o'clock. Lines will be formed at 1.30 and the train will leave at 1.55, arriving in Boston at 3.30. A special train will be taken at the Eastern depot, leaving at 4 o'clock, and arriving home at 7.15.

The Great London Circus.

Of the Great London Circus, which is to exhibit here to-morrow our exchanges without a single exception speak in the heartiest terms, proclaiming the fact broadly that no entertainment of such colossal proportions has ever been perfected before. The twenty massive golden chariots used in procession—countless display of richly ornamented animal dens—herd of fifteen elephants and fourteen camels—canvas lighted throughout by electricity, and a long list of circus champions from the first Amphitheatres of the Old and New Worlds form an irresistible amplitude of wonderful attractions. The baby elephant is conceded to be the greatest curiosity in natural history seen in over two thousand years. It nurses with its mouth instead of the trunk, despite the theories of ancient writers and travelers. The public actually turn wild over this big-little baby, and the ladies and children linger about it hour after hour, powerless to tear themselves from the scene. The little one is an exact miniature copy of its mother and father, and both accompany it in its travels. It is presented with all the balance of the countless attractions, arenic and zoological, which make up this great show.

Boston & Maine.

Next Monday the summer time table on the Boston & Maine railroad will go into effect. There will be four through trains to Boston the same as last year, viz:—6.15 and 8.45 a. m., 1.10 and 6 p. m. Additional trains for Old Orchard and Biddeford at 5 and 10.15 a. m., 12.30 and 5.30 p. m., will be run. The noon train from Boston will arrive at 10.30, and the night train at 10 p. m., the others continuing the same as now. On Sundays a train will leave here at 1 p. m. for Boston, and 10 a. m. and 5.30 p. m. for Old Orchard and Biddeford, and arrive from Boston at 10 p. m.

Bids for the Proposed New Theatre.

The bids for building the proposed new theatre on the Dow lot, rear of the Motley block, Congress street, were opened in Architect Fassett's office Saturday, with the following result:—James Curningham, masonry and carpentry, $18,698; Spencer Rogers, same, $18,738; Mr. Dearborn, $22,954; Mr. Robinson, of Boston, $25,486; James Cunningham, for masonry alone, $9250; Mr. Wescott, for same, $9250; Knights & Redlon, $9300; Files & Bean, $9000; Joy, $11,682; Spencer Rogers, for carpenter work alone, $9448; Burroughs Brothers, for same, $10,375; A. D. Smith, $13,575.

THE BROAD TAVERN.

Interesting Relics of "Ye Olden Tyme."

The old Broad Tavern, which was so familiar to our grandfathers, as a place of resort from September 1787 until 1840, is now open to the inspection of the curious. Yesterday afternoon Mr. L. B. Chapman invited the representatives of the PRESS and Argus to visit the old time hostelry, which was reached after a delightful half hour's ride from the city; a ride that was enlivened by reminiscences of the historical antecedents of Stroudwater.

The Broad Tavern is located on the Reform School road, some little distance from the Brewer House, and is a low, large, two storied mansion surrounded by magnificent elms, over a century old. The party was met at the door by Miss Ann Broad, (a lineal descendant of Captain Silas Broad,) Mrs. Quinby and Miss Quinby, and Mrs. Fickett, who gave them a hearty welcome. The house contains twelve large, low studded, quaintly fashioned rooms, into whose open windows were wafted the summer breezes laden with the odors of the honeysuckle, and through which stretched a long vista of broad fields, with a glimpse of the sparkling river.

The various apartments were filled with most interesting mementoes of the past. In the room on the left of the hall, upon a little old fashioned table, stood a silver plate which belonged to Moses Pearson in 1766, and two old fashioned solid looking cut glass decanters. Upon the window curtain were pinned pieces of old brocade dresses once the property of Mrs. Benjamin Titcomb and Mrs. Dr. Deane, the latter the wife of Dr. Deane the old pastor of our First Parish church. Perhaps the most attractive feature to any one interested in military affairs was the white silk banner presented by the ladies of Stroudwater to the Stroudwater Light Infantry in 1805. The banner bears on the reverse the coat of arms of Massachusetts with the motto "Sub libertate quietem ense petit placidam." Above is the legend "Death or an honorable life." Below "From the fair to the brave." On the obverse is the eagle grasping in its talons javelins and the olive branch, the same legends as the reverse, and the inscription "To the Stroudwater Light Infantry." This company belonged to the 1st Regiment, 2d Brigade, 12th Division Massachusetts Militia, and was disbanded August 31, 1815. The flag was presented to the company through Miss Emma Quinby, daughter of Capt. John Quinby. Daniel Broad was at one time ensign.

On the mantel was a fine old silver tankard belonging originally to William and Anna Titcomb of Newburyport. There was also a correct portrait of Washington presented to Capt. Robert Means of Stroudwater by the general at the disbandment of the Revolutionary army. It was one of a number Washington had struck off at that time and is rather thinner in profile than the accepted portraits of the "Father of his Country," probably owing to the fatigues and worries of the campaign.

In the room on the right of the hall was the bill of fare of a dinner served the old Portland Rifle Corps, June 12, 1833, their 22d anniversary. Turtle soup, haddock chowder, and all the usual meats and "fixings," together with Marcobrunner, "Volnay" Burgundy, "Joli" champagne, Old Madeira and Port and Curacoa wines that were wines in those days, and which, even in these times, would have made some of the modern prohibitionists' mouths water.

The dining room ran the whole width of the house, lighted by two long windows, one of which gives an enchanting landscape view and the other looks into a kitchen garden now brilliant with the bloom and laden with the odors of old-fashioned flowers. Here was a grand old sofa once the property of Chief Justice Mellen, a quint, curiously carved writing desk, an old-fashioned portable silver inkstand with two long wax candles in sconces on the back, and provided with inkstand, sand bottle and a little silver bell with which to call the waiter. The glass and china-ware was enough to turn the head of the lover of bric-a-brac; most oddly devised and quaintly shaped dishes and glass-ware in abundance. There was a splendid old "calico" teapot, great broad glasses for celery, pitchers made in Liverpool with ships painted on them and the initials T. B., funny bock glasses almost orange shaped, and more other articles than a page of this journal could describe.

Over the deep fire-place in the kitchen above the shining andirons, were the cranes and kettles, and close at hand the tin roasters, toasting forks, apple roasters, &c. Two ladies spun flax into long rolls from the spinning wheels, and carded it. A long strip of yellow cloth bore the inscription "Welcome to President Jackson. The Union, it must be preserved."

And emulate the glorious deeds they praise."

This was printed at a time when the great Jackson was expected to visit Portland, but, like the Great Eastern, he never fulfilled expectations.

The great elm outside the door used to be surrounded by a picket fence with rings to which visitors would fasten their steeds. Then they mounted into the branches of the monarch, and while they smoked a great basket with glasses set in its periphery, and a decanter of old French brandy in the centre, would be passed up to them for refreshment. The old out-buildings covered with moss, still remain.

We hope our citizens will visit this splendid monument of the olden time this week, and by the payment of a small fee, not only interest themselves but also add to the treasury of one of our worthiest charitable societies.

NEW JERUSALEM CHURCH.

Last Day of the Convention.

The convention of the New Jerusalem chuch opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The reports were read by Rev. Mr. Hinkley. The foreign reports relating to the German, Danish and Scandinavian societies show that great interest is felt in the work of the New Church.

It was voted that the address to the British conference be referred to the executive committee.

It was also voted that the Rev. Chauncey Giles be appointed as messenger to the British conference.

The following are the board of officers elected:

President—Rev. Chauncey Giles.
Vice President—Hon. F. A. Plantz, Pomeroy, Ohio.
Treasurer—John L. Jewett, New York.
Secretaries—Rev. W. H. Hinkley, Indianapolis; Rev. S. S. Seward, New York; James P. Baxter, Portland; F. A. Dewson, Rev. James Reed, Boston; Rev. John Worcester, Newtonville, Mass.; Dr. Reuben C. Rev. W. B. Hayden offered a resolution which was passed in regard to keeping on hand a supply of liturgies, and another regretting that Oliver Gerrish must decline a re-election on the executive committee.

Rev. I. S. Saul and Rev. H. S. Spencer were dropped from the roll on account of having to attend to secular affairs.

The closing exercises of the conference were held in the evening, when the Revs. Arthur Q. Brickman of Allentown, Penn., E. J. Broadfield of Manchester, England, and John Westall of Fall River, delivered addresses.

The Wisconsin Floods.

Reports in the local papers show that the damage by the recent overflow of the Chippewa river in Wisconsin was very serious. In 36 hours the river rose 28 feet. At Eau Claire the scene was fearful. The bridge between the East and West villages was swept away, the street-car building was washed into the river, fifty houses floated away and three hundred families were left homeless. In Eau Claire the damage is estimated at $7,9000. Chippewa Falls also suffered terribly. The damage to county and city property amounts to $200,000. Lumbering companies lose $200,000 and private property holders $10,000. One hundred families are rendered homeless in that town. Durand was completely inundated; Portlandville was swept away and all the inhabitants left homeless, and LaCrosse suffered to the extent of $1,000,000.

The State Convention.

Regular or special trains will conveniently connect with these trains to accommodate Lewiston, Auburn, Bath, &c. Tickets to convention good from 22d to 24th, inclusive. Round trip tickets may be purchased at the office of the company.

CAPE ELIZABETH CAUCUS.

A Split and Two Caucuses Held.

The Republican caucus in Cape Elizabeth was called to order in the Town Hall at 7.30 p. m. yesterday. After a little exhibition of skittishness on the part of gentlemen talked of for the position Mr. T. G. Hutchins was unanimously elected chairman. It was then remarked that a number of Democrats were present, an assertion that met with a speedy denial. After some sparring a committee of five was appointed to receive votes. The assertion was made by Mr. Perry's friends that fair play could not be obtained and a motion to adjourn was offered. The chairman declared the motion not carried, and then Mr. Berry's friends requested Republicans to leave the hall. About a hundred of the three hundred present then adjourned to the school room above and organized a second caucus with a choice of Gordon R. Garden as chairman. The first caucus then elected the following gentlemen delegates to the State convention: E. H. Chaplin, J. M. Robinson, J. W. Harmon, Woodbury Stinchfield, Chas. C. Goodwin and Fred Hatch.

District Convention—E. N. Jordan, E. C. Robinson, C. E. Staples, A. J. Robinson and J. H. Harford. The delegates were unanimously instructed to support Hon. T. B. Reed.

County Convention—Geo. F. Henley, E. C Robinson, J. A. Milliken, W. R. Anthoine, C. E. Jordan and T. G. Hutchins. All of these received 149 votes. They voted to support the Republican ticket, whoever tho nominee.

The second caucus threw 83 votes and elected the following delegates to the State convention: R. R. Baston, E. N. Perry. E. C. Reynolds, W. D. Murray, J. C. Rundlett. C. S. Jordan.

District Convention—Joseph S. Fickett, John L. Parrott, Albert G. Dyer, John Watson, Geo. F. Henley, Chas. E. Jordan. The delegates were ordered unanimously to support Hon. T. B. Reed.

County—Gordon R. Garden, William T. Studley, Fred H. Loveitt, Thomas I. Jordan, W. D. Ames, John T. Alexander.

The following gentlemen were appointed a committee to prepare a statement of the reasons for the secession and present the claims of the delegates to the various conventions. Dr. Baston, Joseph S. Fickett, Gordon R. Garden, E. C. Reynolds and W. J. Dyer. This caucus also voted to support the nominees whoever they might be and Mr. Perry pledged his personal support.

Fifth of July,

A project is on foot for a grand parade of Antiques and Horribles on July 5th. It is thought that $200 can be secured, divided into purses of $75, $50, $25, $20, $15, $10 and $5, for the first to seventh most antique, horrible, or otherwise, costume worn by male or female on that occasion. A committee would be appointed to award the prizes (after a procession through the principal streets) at a grand dress parade to be held in front of City Hall.

The Railroad to Libby's Corner.

A meeting of the special committee of the City Government to investigate and ascertain what is advisable for the city to do in the case of extending the Portland Horse Railroad to Libby's Corner was held last evening, and a motion made and carried that the committee was in favor of building the road, provided it should be shown that the building of the road was for the best interests of the city.

Yarmouth.

On the evening of the 18th Dr. A. H. Burbank was serenaded by the Yarmouth brass band, to whom he recently gave a generous sum of money. The concert consisted of instrumental music by the band, who played several selections in their usual artistic manner, and vocal music by the crowd of young men who frequent the village streets during the evening hours. After the concert the members of the band were invited by the genial doctor into the house, where their hearts were made glad with an abundance of ice cream and other refreshments.

The new yacht E. W. Hill, which has been built here during the past winter, is now on the water. She is a splendid boat, and is expected to be a very fast sailer.

THAT ANSWER.

An Explanation that Needs Explaining.

The Fusion newspapers have just fired the first gun of the campaign in the shape of a supplement, containing an alleged answer of Gov. Garcelon and Council to the report of the Hale Committee. The answer is not a new one, but is the same that was printed in the Boston Sunday Globe several weeks ago. It is signed by Gov. Garcelon and all the members of the Council except John B. Foster and Edward C. Moody. Since the first appearance of this answer the evidence taken by the Hale committee has been printed precisely in the language it was given, and it is now possible to show the falsity of this answer and the recklessness of one man at least who signs it viz: Alonzo Garcelon. We are inclined to think that before the Fusionists get through handling this gun they will find it like those in the old couplet, which bore wide and kicked their owners ever.

One paragraph in the answer relates to Perkins Plantation, and is as follows:

The committee seem to have been actuated by a combination of motives in the investigation of the returns from Perkins Plantation, Here the Fusion candidate for Senator received fourteen votes and the Republican candidate thirteen. The committee claim that under the rules established by the Governor and Council, this return could not be counted because the whole number of ballots was not stated, and to save this feeble majority of one for the Fusionists, a forgery has been committed. Every person committing a crime is supposed to have some motive for doing it. What motive could have possibly induced the commission of forgery in this instance we cannot perceive. The Republicans claimed only a majority of seven for their candidate, Mr. Fernald, which was entirely overcome by the rejection of the towns of New Sharon and Farmington, either of these towns more than changing the majority of seven claimed.

This explanation does not touch at all the vital question in regard to Perkins plantation. It is the counting of the representative return from that town that needs explanation. It will be remembered that Perkins is classed with Farmington. The district was Republican by a heavy majority, but by throwing out Farmington on the ground that the return or the record was not made up in open town meeting, and counting Perkins in spite of the rules laid down by the Council, a Fusionist was declared elected. On this point we will cite Garcelon's testimony before the Hale committee:

Q—I find, and call your attention to it, that the Council adopted a rule that the whole number of ballots must be correctly stated. Was that rule adopted and followed out?
A—Correctly stated.
Q—That the whole number of ballots on the return must appear?
A—"Must appear;" yes, that was the rule.
Q—Was that rule followed?
A—Yes, sir.
* * * * * * *
Q—Look at the Representative tabulation from Franklin county, Farmington district, and see what was the result of throwing out Farmington?
A—The result was that Perkins Plantation elected.
Q—That is, there was one vote in favor of Voter, and by rejecting Farmington it threw the election upon Perkins Plantation?
A—Yes.
Q—What was the whole number of votes thrown there?
A—Twenty-seven. That plantation should have been rejected; there is no whole number of votes given.
Q—It was not rejected?
A—No; sir.
Q—What was the vote as thrown?
A—Thirteen for Thomas; fourteen for Voter.
Q—Giving one majority for Voter?
A—Yes.
Q—And on that plantation the certificate was issued to Voter?
A—Yes, it so appears.
Q—So that the 838 votes of Farmington were thrown out?
A—They should both of them have been thrown out.
Q—If both of them had been thrown out nobody would have received the certificate?
A—No. That is a matter I never saw before.

It cannot be claimed by the most stupid defender of the count that the Hale committee altered this return. The defect was an omission, and if anything had been scratched out it could have been easily discovered. When Garcelon met with his Council to make up his answer he had full knowledge of the crookedness in the Perkins case. And yet he puts his name to a paper which declares that the count was constitutional, that the rules laid down were impartially enforced and that the count was honest and fair, and yet this answer contains not one word of explanation of this Perkins case, which but a short time before he had declared crooked and in violation of the rules of the Council, and from the odium of which he sought to relieve himself by saying that he knew nothing about it. Gov. Garcelon complained to the Hale committee that the papers had frequently said that he was a natural born fool. He ought to congratulate himself that they said nothing worse.

Let us look at another case, that of Somerville. Here the return was counted and by means of it a Fusion Senator was counted in in Lincoln county. Again we cite from Garcelon's testimony:

Q—I call your attention now to the principle laid down by you, in which I believe there was no exception, as you understand, that the name of the municipal officers signing must be all in their original hand-writing.
A—Yes.
Q—If not they were thrown out?
A—That was the design * * * *
Q—Look at the Senatorial return from Somerville and see if upon that, it is clearly evident that the last three names were signed by the same man?
A—I should not have any doubt about that.
Q—So that ought to have been thrown out, too?
A—Yes, sir.

We have searched the answer in vain for any explanation of this performance. There was an explanation given by Mr. Fogg to the effect that the similarity of signatures was not noticed, but as Mr. Fogg has since declared that he was away in New York or Boston, or somewhere else, when the tabulations were made and that the Democrats in the Council were responsible for the crookedness if there was any, his explanation is not worth much. His fellow tabulators did not consider it of any consequence evidently, for they neglected to incorporate it in their answer. Yet with this case, which Garcelon admitted was crooked, unexplained, Garcelon is ready to swear that the count was legal, constitutional, honest and impartial.

Again. Here is a paragraph from the answer in the case of the town of Buckfield:

The Hale committee claim that in the returns for county officers from the towns of Buckfield and Brownfield the names of the towns have been written in by someone since they were received at Augusta, so that now they show from what towns they came from, and that before this change was made there was nothing to show where the papers came from. What possible motive any member of the Council could have had to make these corrections, it is difficult to understand. In the first place each one of the returns came enclosed in official envelopes which contained on their face a certificate signed by the municipal officers, telling what the return was and what town it came from. Then there was a filing written on the back of the return by one of the municipal officers showing what town it came from. In the next place the Governor and Council considered all the returns for county officers whose elections were regulated by statute to be correctable under the law of 1877. In no single instance did they refuse to allow these corrections to be made when there was a return properly signed, and under this law they corrected the returns for several Republican candidates for county officers when, if such corrections had not been made, they would have been defeated. We have no recollection about the returns from these two towns. If we could see them we might be able to form some opinion as to whether any words have been inserted. We shall presume, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that the town officers did their duty and properly filled up these blanks.

This is charming simplicity. "Each of the returns came in official envelopes which contained on their face a certificate signed by the municipal officers, telling what return it was and what town it came from. Then there was a filing written on the back of the return by one of the municipal officers showing what town it came from." The above sentences are injected for the purpose of intimating that the name of the town on the back of the return, or on the envelope, would have been sufficient. The Council had either forgotten or thought the public had that immediately after the count they issued a statement in which occurred this paragraph in explanation of the throwing out of the town of Newburg;

"Newburg—The name of the town not on the return, can only be recognized by the name on the envelope."

But the Council wants to know what the motive of the forgery was. It is not far to seek. With Buckfield and Brownfield thrown out all the county officers would have been Republican. When the forgery was committed the Council had undoubtedly not decided to allow correction of county returns. The decision to do so was made later in the count and was a concession they felt compelled to make for the sake of keeping up an appearance of decency, and even after they did grant this privilege they threw so many obstacles in the way as to make it almost valueless.

On the 23d of December Garcelon issued an address to the Democracy of the country in which he used this language:

The Governor and Council have recognized the fact that the people of Maine have adopted a constitution and declared it to be the Supreme law of the state. They have followed its requirements with fidelity and impartiality, and when an intelligent public have brushed away the mists and false colorings which enraged and discomfited politicians have thrown around our action, and the vituperation and slander that has been heaped upon us, give place to reason and fair investigation, any condemnation of our course either by the Democracy of the nation or any fairminded and honorable politician of any party, will be acknowledged with due submission.

It will be seen that he personally vouched in this address for the legality and impartiality of the count. When he was before the Hale committee some weeks later he was asked this question:—

Confining yourself to the legality of the returns, were you able to carry out the Constitution and laws in any given case unless you knew about that case? for instance, was it safe for you to depend upon the Council without looking into it yourself?

And made this answer:—

I presumed the Council were honorable men, and honest, and reported the tabulation of the returns correctly. In a great majority of cases where there was no question, as I understood, I did not personally look into the matter; but where there was a case of doubt I looked into the matter and decided as I thought best, so far as my own judgment went, in regard to this, that or the other particular case.

Thus Gov. Garcelon confesses that when he assured the Democracy of the nation that the count was constitutional and honest he had little personal knowledge of the matter, but relied on the representation of his councillors. After examining the tabulations and returns in the presence of the Hale committee he confessed that he had been imposed upon, that many of the cases he knew nothing about, and that if he had the result would have been different. A few weeks later without any further opportunity to examine the returns, with some of the most glaring frauds totally unexplained, relying simply on the unsupported word of men whom he confessed had but a short time before shamefully deceived him, he comes before the public again and declares that there was nothing irregular or dishonest in the count, but that on the contrary it was constitutional, equitable, honest and fair. On such a performance as this a statement of the facts is sufficient comment.

The sad accident by which the late Wm. Sullivan, a Bath ship carpenter, lost his life, in detail is as follows:—At 4 p. m. he was at work upon the platform of the Crescent City at Houghton's wharf the planks tipped as he changed position and Mr. Sullivan fell about six feet into the water. He rose so that one hand was visible, but all attempts to rescue him proved of no avail. His body was recovered about 6 a. m., and the funeral occurred from his late residence on Water street this morning. A strange coincidence was the fact of his sister-in-law dreaming two nights previous to the accident that he was drowned. Deceased had stated within one week that in case of an accident he believed that he should be drowned.

Maine News.

Hob Bitters, which are advertised in our columns, are a sure cure for ague, biliousness and kidney complaints. Those who use them say they cannot be too highly recommended. Those afflicted should give them a fair trial, and will become thereby enthusiastic in the praise of their curative qualities.—Portland Ad.

Cuticura

THE GREAT SKIN CURE.

Infallibly Cures.

CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP is earnestly believed to be the only positive Specific Remedy for the cure of Salt Rheum or Eczema, Ringworm, Tetter, Pashes, Chin Welk, Psoriasis, Pemphigus, Impetigo, Leprosy, Lichen, Prurigo, Itch, Ground Itch, Barber's Itch, Jackson's Itch, Rough and Cracked Skins and all Vascular and Scaly Eruptions and Irritations of the Skin; Scald Head, Dandruff, Dry, Thin and Falling Hair, Premature Baldness and all Scaly Eruptions, Itchings and Irritations of the Scalp, Scrofulous Ulcers, Sores and Discharging Wounds; Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Scalds, Burns, Itching Piles, Pain and Inflammation; Rheumatism and affections of the Muscles and Joints, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Croup and Hoarseness. In all cases of blood and skin humors the CUTICURA RESOLVENT should be taken internally until some time after a cure is effected.

SKIN DISEASES.

MESSRS WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—For the benefit of the world I wish to make this statement; I have been afflicted with a skin disease for about five years, and have tried almost everything that I could hear of, without any relief whatever, until I saw your CUTICURA REMEDIES advertised, and concluded to try them.

I certify that I only used them about six weeks until I was entirely well, but before I commenced using them, my face, breast, and back were almost a solid scab, and I often scratched the blood from my body. I am now entirely well and think your CUTICURA REMEDIES are the best for skin diseases that ever was brought before the public.

Very gratefully yours, F. M. FOX.
CADDO, IND. TER., Feb. 21, 1879.

SALT RHEUM.

Helpless for eight years.—Unable to walk. Got about on hands and knees.

A Wonderful Cure.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had a most wonderful cure of Salt Rheum. For several years I suffered with Salt Rheum; I had it on my head, face, neck, arms, and legs. I was not able to walk, only on my hands and knees, for one year. I have not been able to help myself for eight years. I tried hundreds of remedies; not one had the least effect. The doctors said my case was incurable. So my parents tried everything that came along. I saw your advertisement and concluded to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. The first box of CUTICURA brought the Humor to the surface of my skin. It would drop off as it came out, until now I am entirely well. All I can say is, I owe you most heartily for my cure. Any person who thinks this letter a fraud, let them write or come and see me and find out for themselves.

Yours truly, WILL McDONALD.

EXHAUSTION.—Thousands are daily passing to premature graves because unable to throw off the Debility which has fastened itself upon their systems. Why? Because the cause, ENFEEBLED DIGESTION and IMPOVERISHED BLOOD, is not reached by any remedy or treatment. Give these unhappy invalids something to sustain life, something to create new, RICH BLOOD. Give them Good Digestion, Active Livers, and Healthy Kidneys, and Pure Blood will electrify the system and throw off disease. MALT BITTERS! At once a Medicine and a Food, this wonderful Nutritant and Invigorant builds up enfeebled digestion, regulates the flow of the gastric juices, dissolves and assimilates every article of diet, and vitalizes with new life every organ and fluid of the body.

MALT BITTERS are prepared without fermentation from Canadian BARLEY MALT and HOPS, and are free from the objections urged against malt liquors.

Ask for MALT BITTERS prepared by the MALT BITTERS COMPANY, and see that every bottle bears the TRADE MARK LABEL, duly signed and enclosed in wave lines as seen in the cut.
